

Mission and vision statement

The Diversity committee's mission is to promote diversity and inclusion among students and staff at the Faculty of Archaeology, Leiden University. Central to our mission and our impact is to support a truly diverse and inclusive community that empowers all students and staff to feel valued, respected and to develop to their full potential. Diversity in people, experiences, and perspectives enriches our teaching and strengthens our research. High quality education and research is invariably inclusive and promoting varied perspectives helps generate better ideas to solve the complex problems of a changing—and increasingly diverse—world.

Our goal is to advocate for an atmosphere where diversity and inclusion are naturally implemented in all aspects of the faculty's community and policy with an outlook to explore creating a more equitable future for all.