Dear [redacted]

In September we talked about an eventual donation – investment construction connected to [redacted] research. We have discussed the possibilities and requirements of this construction internally, and would like to continue the conversation with you as we have some more in-depth questions on your conditions and expectations of the donor-investors. Would you have time for a Teams meeting together with my business development and entrepreneurship colleagues in the coming weeks? I am happy to set up a call, looking forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,
